Session 15 Recap
September 20th, 2026
Defectors and Discounts

The party returned to port Vesper after saying their farewells to Flint and the Lux Codicants. As soon as they stepped off the land speeder, Asra announced she was going shopping and sauntered away. I hated to see her go but loved to watch her leave.

The party was quickly greeted by a street urchin kid who said he had a message for Lor. The kid, Nibs, said a bunch of bullshit to Lor. Lor said a bunch of bullshit back to him, both nodding and pretending like they knew what the other was saying. Then the gutter child handed Lor a note… I sure hope she washed her hands after.

Lor, inexplicably going with trash child's ruse, told us we needed to go meet a person of interest at a bar. The party headed that way and the disgusting street rat would not go away until someone thankfully pelted him with money. If not for the silly "safety" protocols burned into my systems I'd have rid tiny shit stain from its pathetic existence.

We made our way to some dive bar and again, Lor was acting really strange. She had her back to the new ladies' back, and they were speaking in a similar non-sense to what the garbage child was saying. Again, both pretending like they knew what the other was talking about. The only thing I remember was when… Brook I think her name was, mentioned having been part of The Black Sky… I came this close to vaporizing her ass! This close! She has no idea! Luckily, Aelyn grabbed me by my syntax injector… that's basically my penis, she grabbed me by my penis, and said "You're momma's little silicon slut." Which is code for "Stand down and don't knee cap this bitch." Brook is so lucky, she has no idea…

Lor and Brook might have scissored or something for a few minutes, I wasn't really paying attention, and now Brook is part of our gang. Im pretty sure thats what Aelyn had to do to get us into the gang. I always wanted to be in a gang so Aelyn told me this our gang and I'm the Lieutenant. Brook has yet to pay fealty to me… but I see the way she looks at me and I suspect she will soon, as I clearly have seniority over her and she should bow to her senpai.

We then went shopping. I wanted a new hat. There were no hats. The party made some deals, forged some coupons and sold the armor we got off some Fae court guys, Hanz and Franz I think their names were. Anyways, the party got a whole bunch of new stuff and zero new hats for Ghost. And now they want to go meet a technomancer at some place called Heartburn 17? I wonder where Asra went. I wonder if she bought me a new hat. I really wanted a new hat… Dang it.